Playgrounds Ball League Near Finals

Wind-up of the city playgrounds football leagues, an inter-playground track meet scheduled for Aug. 30, and staging of inter-playground picnic Aug. 16 at 7 p.m. are major items on the program for this month, the Recreation Commission noted today.

Football championships have already been decided in several leagues, both girls and boys, other leagues are nearing end of summer schedule.

The 30 track meet will be held at Clarke Stadium. Up for competition is the Gryo club trophy won last year by Westmont Playground.

The inter-playground picnic Aug. 16 is a new dating of the one postponed because of rain Aug. 9. Playground children will meet their directors on the home grounds at 1 p.m. before proceeding to Victoria Park. Car tickets will be provided and a picnic lunch. Non-student members among the younger set are invited.

Starting on Monday, playground hours for evening will be changed to 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., the announcement stated.

Newfoundland Forest Blaze Under Control

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 12.—(CP)—A forest fire raging in the Burnt Peninsula in Newfoundland since Monday, which yesterday threatened the town of Waterford, is under control, Fire Warden Harold Smith reported today from the fire area.

The fire is burning in low scrub and second-growth three miles from Waterford, where yesterday the 100 residents packed their belongings and prepared to leave a hasty retreat.

Sunny weather is not helping the fire fighters and fire wardens said only rain could extinguish the forest blaze.

Construction Up, Occupancy Down

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The construction gangs have been working on more houses this year than last, but they haven't as many of them ready for occupancy.

But at the end of May there were 38,100 units in various stages of construction, compared with 35,323 a year ago.

An Edmonton man and his Winnipeg confederates were each sentenced to 25 months imprisonment on their charges when they appeared in Winnipeg police court Friday.

Richard Skitny, 20, of Edmonton, and Glen B. Ramond, Winnipeg, are also wanted by Edmonton police for auto theft, shopbreaking and theft and by the RCMP for an out-of-town break-in.

RCMP in Yorkton, Sask., hold a warrant for their arrest in connection with a break-in outside that city.

Skitny and Ramond received their sentences in Winnipeg for theft of an auto three Aug. 3, and of a pair of binoculars Aug. 4. For retreating St. Boniface police on their arrest, Aug. 4, they received six months sentences, concurrent with their 25-month terms.

Ride Offered, Boy Is Freed

A 17-year-old Edmonton boy was found not guilty yesterday on a joy-riding charge, for which a warrant was filed $50 last week.

The point was, said Magistrate J. B. Hall in Provincial Court, that the accused had entered the car one block after it had been broken into by the companion.

The first juvenile broke into the car single-handed, according to evidence, and offered two boys a lift. A block further along the street, they said they accepted "because it was raining and he said he would drive us home."

Should Think Again

Taxicab operators in Edmonton should give a sober second thought to their request for a higher rate of tariffs. Some times increased charges have the effect of reducing revenue rather than boosting it.

The operators ask the city for authority to raise their basic rate from 50 cents for the first two miles to 50 cents for the first mile and a third.

Thus, a two-mile run, which is an average run from the business district or the theatre district to the residential sections will go up from 50 cents to 75 cents.

This is an increase in the basic charge of 40 per cent, a pretty substantial augmentation.

The operators ask for this increase because they say the larger number of vehicles in operation has made competition keener.

Ordinary economic experience, keener competition usually results in lowered rather than heightened prices. One question, then, the very reason for the fixing of in defiance of the common laws of economics.

It has no right, for presumably compensate reasons, to take the advice of its finance committee and accept a bid that will return $3 per car and reject a bid that will return $7 per car.

Indeed, so far as we can see, the compassionate factor has no place in the business arrangements made by the city council.

The city council does have a compassionate function, of course. And if its members feel sorry for any citizen, we presume they are quite without their rights to demand a grant of city funds to mitigate the unfortunate circumstances in which that citizen finds himself.

There Are Diversities of Gifts

The Apostle Paul wrote in his epistle to the Corinthians:

"Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. . . . And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God who worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit himself. For to each is given the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another the gift of healing by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit; to another the interpretation of tongues. But all these worketh that one and the self-same Spirit, dividing to every man separately as he will."

Presumably it had troubled the members of the Church at Corinth that the acceptance of the Christian faith had not resulted to every man the power to do all those things which had been vouchsafed to the apostles.

This, then, was St. Paul's answer to their discontent. Each Christian has his own special talent in God's plan of redemption.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Harold L. Weir

Interests of Anticipation Served By Crew Haircut

The crew haircut, I have observed, has become standard equipment for the happy young man about town.

Wherever you look, the close-cropped hair of boys and young men goes up before you. I should like to go on record as endorsing this universal whimsy with some degree of heartiness. First, because I have been told by certain disapproving friends that I am inclined to be hypercritical of youth and, secondly, because I firmly believe that the crew haircut is an eminently sensible and sanitary fashion.

So far as being critical of youth is concerned, honesty impels me to admit that this is so. But let me tell you a secret. When persons of your age, and I believe that the crew haircut is a device contrived for the purpose of the younger generation, you may be pretty sure that the motivating source is not vanity.

As someone has said, "Youth is such a wonderful thing to be wasted on the young."

But to get back to the crew haircut, I like the style because it is clean, neat and tidy and because it implies in this aging bones certain nostalgic pangs about hair that no longer appears.

Short Hair

If one wished to be impressive in the estimation of the ladies, one might go back into history and show that warlike heroes have always cultivated the close crop of hair that was cut out and reason that long hair provided

The operators should remember, too, that the city council, charged with the task of making the transit system pay, is not going to be too reluctant to grant a taxicab price boost when that boost could very easily result in a falling off of taxicab patronage and a corresponding enlargement of trolley bus patronage.

There are very many people who will regard a taxicab charge of less than a dollar as mere routine expenditure but a taxicab ride that costs more than a dollar as a luxury.

These observations are not to be construed as an argument against the authorization of a higher tax rate. Indeed, taxicabmen in general might be favorable towards the higher rate in the belief that it would throw more business in the way of the transit system.

But it seems to me that the taxicab operators, in their own interest, should exhaust the possibility of increasing their revenue by the creation of new business through lowered prices before they take the hazardous chance of decreasing their revenue through higher prices.

But it is better to keep the compassionate function of council entirely separate from the function of awarding contracts. It could make charitable donations as it sees fit. But let contracts be awarded on a strictly business basis.

This truth can contract is not of any considerable moment except as it offers convenient receptacles for the disposal of refuse. In that connection it might be noted that the city council has two valuable because two hands are required to open them and deposit waste therein.

But the pertinent point lies in the fact that acceptance of the finance committee's report will imply poor judgment. And if council's judgment is poor in lesser matters it will be poor in greater ones.

There is no reason to suppose that the city council is any wiser now, has been an undiminished and not very intelligent battle of delay, postponement, sentiment and confusion.

God does not call all men to do the same things. Each has his particular gift. And each should employ that gift to the glory of God. Obviously we cannot all be great preachers.

It is not given to everybody to possess that self-control, that singleness of purpose and that height of devotion which is necessary to the life of a saint.

Nor is it within the power of everyone to interpret the full meaning of the Christian life.

But it is within the power of everyone to live decently, to love his neighbor and to love God.

What is as truly an act of worship as any great sermon can be.

A simple act of kindness done in Christ's name can have as much divine virtue as a day of prayer.

A plain, unselfish, Christian life can have a greater influence for good than a moving oration from the pulpit of some vast cathedral.

"There are diversities of gifts," as St. Paul wrote.

The thing is to use every one of them for the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

Letters to the Editor

Threat To Alberta

Editor, Bulletin: The appearance of letters on the subject of gas pipelines seems to make it clear that the full impact of the question is not yet felt. It has not penetrated the thought chambers of all British Columbians and Albertans.

The plain facts are that the new and major threat of the big Pipe Engineering organization with plans for a pipeline from Texas which would capture the major Pacific Coast markets in Washington and Oregon will very likely make it impossible to build any Canadian pipeline, on any route at all.

Whether a line should run through the northern wilderness or to serve the more heavily populated southern areas, doesn't seem to matter very much now.

The question is only whether or not Canada can get a gas line into the big market before the Texas line gets underway.

Judging from the time it has taken Canada to meet demand with the problem of date, no little part of which was due to the expert time-consuming of the leaders, there does not appear to be a great deal of hope for Canadians.

Fast-moving Texas gas people will likely get their line built first and then the line from Alberta to the west will be a mere afterthought.

Iran: Battleground In War of Nerves

General Ali Razmara, army chief of staff, became prime minister on June 26, the day after the Khomeini revolution broke out.

General Razmara swept out all but two of Iran's perennial cabinet members and promoted a few new ones.

The Moscow radio declared on July 1 that General Razmara's cabinet "means the establishment of a military dictatorship in Iran."

The Soviet Union has been hammering at regularly by the clandestine so-called Azerbaijan Democratic state which may be transmitting from Soviet Azerbaijan.

An outright appeal for revolt was aired in a July 12 Azerbaijani broadcast, quoting a reputed statement by the central committee of the outlawed Fethiyya "Yusef Party."

Winnipeg Endures Night of Wrath

(Columnist Jack Scott is on a cross-Canada tour with his family in automobile and trailer. EDITOR)

WINNIPEG—There was a remarkable sort of odd sight outside our door the other morning. It was a trailer.

We were parked in a trailer camp almost in the heart of the downtown area. The trailer buildings are across one street, the hall park across the other. There were a hundred or more of them. I'd say. They were all builting pests.

There was a good deal of other evidence in that view from our trailer door of what the night had done. It was Monday morning and Winnipeg, the wren of the West, had been hit. If you'll pardon the expression, a hell of a night.

Just Short Of Hurricane

You'll find it read in last Monday's paper about Winnipeg's epic thunder storm in which the wind blew up to 68 miles an hour (just seven m.p.h. short of hurricane strength) and the damage done to a city that has had more than its share of weather this year.

The storm lasted for 45 minutes. It caught everybody by surprise.

It was about 12:30 a.m., a hot, muggy night. The kids were asleep. Brown Eyes and I had been sitting outside watching the stars and hoping for a breeze.

It came with a soundless wall. The trees all suddenly bent. Our canvas canopy ballooned out like a spinnaker. The lights went out through the main overhead. We bolted for the trailer.

There it really began. Most people described that 40 minutes as "a nightmare" and it was that, all right.

Fire Alarms

I find it hard to sort out any sense out of the night. The stage of furious action. When the lights went out each glaring tongue of flame was a warning of a direct hit and there was a mounting crash of noise.

It was a scene of horror and whiplashed against the side of the trailer. A heavy limb of the tree fell across the roof.

WINNIPEG—There was a remarkable sort of odd sight outside our door the other morning. It was a trailer.

We were parked in a trailer camp almost in the heart of the downtown area. The trailer buildings are across one street, the hall park across the other. There were a hundred or more of them. I'd say. They were all builting pests.

There was a good deal of other evidence in that view from our trailer door of what the night had done. It was Monday morning and Winnipeg, the wren of the West, had been hit. If you'll pardon the expression, a hell of a night.

Just Short Of Hurricane

You'll find it read in last Monday's paper about Winnipeg's epic thunder storm in which the wind blew up to 68 miles an hour (just seven m.p.h. short of hurricane strength) and the damage done to a city that has had more than its share of weather this year.

The storm lasted for 45 minutes. It caught everybody by surprise.

It was about 12:30 a.m., a hot, muggy night. The kids were asleep. Brown Eyes and I had been sitting outside watching the stars and hoping for a breeze.

It came with a soundless wall. The trees all suddenly bent. Our canvas canopy ballooned out like a spinnaker. The lights went out through the main overhead. We bolted for the trailer.

There it really began. Most people described that 40 minutes as "a nightmare" and it was that, all right.

Fire Alarms

I find it hard to sort out any sense out of the night. The stage of furious action. When the lights went out each glaring tongue of flame was a warning of a direct hit and there was a mounting crash of noise.

It was a scene of horror and whiplashed against the side of the trailer. A heavy limb of the tree fell across the roof.

Former First Lady Charms In Recitation

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt charmed children in the Berkshire Music Festival audience right out of their seats last night with her recitation of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf."

A score of young music-lovers slipped down the aisles of the Tanglewood music shell, their feet on their chairs on the edge of the stage as the former first lady recited the fairy tale to the accompaniment of the Boston Symphony orchestra. An audience of 3,000 filled the shed and overflowed to the lawn. Conductor Serge Koussevitzky struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" as Mrs. Roosevelt took her place on the stage, and she joined the audience in singing the anthem. CURTAIN CALL

Mrs. Roosevelt took her first curtain call with Koussevitzky but the audience called her back again and again with applause. The appearance marked Mrs. Roosevelt's first professional experience as a performer. Her narration was recorded by RCA-Victor during a afternoon rehearsal. The recording took more than three hours.

The performance netted $10,000 for the Berkshire Music Training Centre. Mrs. Roosevelt donated half the money paid to the centre and the remainder to the Wiltwyck School for Boys.

Artist Pushes Eskimo Work

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A 25-year-old Toronto artist is pioneering the first Eskimo industry. Jim Houston in the last three years has established a thriving market for the stone and walrus ivory carvings and other handicrafts of Canada's Eskimos. During the war Houston served with the directorate of military training on the frontiers of the Arctic Circle. He saw the Eskimo's handicrafts and in 1942 made his first trip to Hudson Bay to paint the Eskimo people.

Steel Smuggling Mocks Embargo

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Three million dollars worth of steel has been smuggled from West Germany into the Russian zone in the last six months, American officials said yesterday. These sources said a highly-organized contraband system made a virtual mockery out of an allied-sponsored iron and steel embargo clamped against the Russian zone by the Bonn republic last February. The embargo was lifted yesterday.

PICKETS PICKET as Clyde E. Palmer, left, publisher of newspapers at Texarkana, Ark.-Tex., and El Dorado, Ark., with his granddaughter, Virginia Lee Palmer, parade in front of Texarkana Gazette and News. They are picketing International Typographical Union picket at right. Palmer's printers went out on strike, but called it a lockout. Palmer claims printers reluctantly strike under pressure from the ITO's national leaders.

Panic Buying Attacked As Foolish, Not Needed

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Officials of government, business organizations and consumer associations joined yesterday in condemning panic-buying and hoarding as selfish, exceedingly foolish, unproductive and harmful to the economy of the country.

There is no reason, they say, for hoarding or excessive buying at this time. There is no shortage of supplies and it is not likely to be unless there is unreasonable buying. Such buying tends to increase prices, to cause hardship to many and to affect adversely the general economy of the country. It was the type of thing which made necessary universal unpopular controls of various types. Statements of the officials came while reports from various parts of the country indicated that the tense international situation has led to heavy buying of goods in short supply during the Second World War. In demand are products ranging from foodstuffs to building materials.

UNNECESSARY
J. H. Brace, chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said "People who hoard must realize they are doing the country and themselves real disservice since they inevitably force prices up and make it necessary to institute arbitrary and complicated system of controls."

"Most convincing comment of all is that of the ITO's national leaders."

"Pretty baby" is one of the better light comedies of the season. The plot line sounds just like one of those things—a young girl who is believed going to have a baby but doesn't. Still the story is played with such good humor that it is a delight.

Terms of Unions, Railways Shown In Broad Contrast

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Here is a broad contrast, excluding certain qualifications, between the wage demands of the 15 international and two Canadian unions upon the railways and the "final offer" of the railway as a compromise.

THE UNIONS ASK:
40-hour week against the present 48-hour week; increase for more than 90,000 workers (international unions) and 10,000 employees (Canadian unions).
No reduction in take-home pay.
THE RAILWAYS OFFER:
44-hour week with a 3.1 per cent increase in hourly rates so as to maintain take-home pay. Recognition of a moral obligation to implement the railway work "at the appropriate time," or
Increase in basic wage rates approximately equivalent to the first plan. This would average $9 cents for all employees and would be graduated in three steps.

The company also asks recognition by the unions in principle, subject to negotiation in detail, of 10 amendments to terms of existing contracts.

THE AMENDMENTS

1. Employees with less than six months' seniority will be considered as on probation.
2. Provision that in case of staff reduction, as much advance notice as possible be given employees affected.
3. Modification or incorporation of rules regarding apprenticeship rates and period of application.
4. Provision for variation in starting time to meet requirements of service.
5. Provision of establishment of meal periods to meet requirements of service.
6. Modification of reference to time and one-half for Sunday work as such and provision for establishment of a seventh day off duty, not necessarily Sunday.
7. Amendment of vacation-with-pay provisions in conformity with reduced week.

8. Modification of overtime rule governing road service of express messengers and helpers.
9. Modification of present rule governing work on Sundays.
10. Modification of rule governing sleeping and dining car department employees, one conductor when passenger train has more than three and not exceeding eight sleepers; extra conductor when more than eight sleepers.

Debits and Credits Of Korea Listed

By Harry Ferguson
Exclusive to the Bulletin
Today the Korean war will be seven weeks old. Enough time has gone by to enable Americans to strike a balance sheet between good news and bad. It goes something like this:

- GOOD NEWS
1. Almost all the members of our high command now are convinced we shall be able to hold the beach-head around Pusan. Ten days ago some of them were not so sure. If we had been driven into the sea, it would have been a military disaster because we would have been forced to mount an amphibious attack from Japanese ports and be back and capture Korea.
 2. The United States has absolute command of the Korean skies and seas. The U.S. air force and our naval air commanders did an outstanding job in making the best use of the equipment they had available. Unless Russia sends in planes and pilots, the Communist air force will never challenge us seriously.
 3. Most of the non-Communist world has rallied to the American cause in Korea. Many nations have pledged troops, planes, ships or weapons to help. Physical assistance will be slow in arriving, but the moral pledges of assistance have forged a common bond in the face of a common danger among the non-Communist countries.
 4. The American era of indecision and confusion in the cold war has ended. Congress and the people seem to get a lift out of the fact that we drew a line in Korea and told the Communists, "This far and no farther." There were few dissenting voices when President Truman issued his call for action, because most people felt any kind of action was better than mere waiting.
- BAD NEWS
1. Our casualties in Korea are likely to become heavier as we commit more troops there and go over to the offensive. It is an axiom of war that the attacker loses more than the defender.
 2. Russia has shown no signs, inside or outside the United Nations, of sincerely wanting to call off the Korean war or to become a participant in any realistic plan for lasting peace. Instead, she gives every indication of having a long-range plan for world conquest and intends to allow nothing to stand in her way.
 3. By intervening in Korea we committed the United States to protect freedom-loving men everywhere. Some of our diplomats think an entire generation of Americans will live in a state of tension and semi-mobilization, alert to suppress a series of small wars in which ever parts of the world the Communist leadership decides to start them.
 4. Every passing month gives the Russians more time to match the weapon in which we now have absolute superiority—the atom bomb. The assumption of the non-Communist world is that America never will be the aggressor in an atomic war. Thus there is nothing for the democracies to do but wait for the day when the Russians decide they are ready for the big gamble that will set the world aflame.

Livestock Prices Help Push Up Farm Index

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—A further rise in livestock prices, together with higher prices for potatoes, poultry and eggs contributed to a substantial increase in the index of farm prices of agricultural products during June, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. Higher prices during June were recorded for all provinces as compared with the previous month, and were above those a year earlier in each province except Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Quebec and British Columbia.

Increased prices for livestock and potatoes contributed last year's higher prices for grains, dairy products, poultry and eggs.

The index for all Canada, on the basis 1920-1929 equals 100, was 252.2 in June, compared with 249.6 for May and 230.7 for June last year. The index has above a steady rise since 1923 in January.

Indices for June follow, with figures for the corresponding month last year in brackets:
Price of livestock 267.8 (210.5);
New Scotia 286.9 (211.9);
New Brunswick 281.5 (212.1);
Quebec 280.6 (209.9);
Ontario 269.0 (200.7);
Manitoba 285.5 (202.7);
Saskatchewan 285.5 (202.7).

POLICE TAKE CAVEMAN MURDERER

TRENTON, N.J., Aug. 12 (Reuters)—Police today captured "Caveman" Guido Zingieris, ending an international manhunt that followed the axe murder of British tourist Helen Munro in a lonely American cave last month.

Miss Munro, 41, was an official of the British Arts Council. She had been assaulted, stabbed, beaten and strangled. Her death coincided with the disappearance of Zingieris, a hairy, thick-set man of 46 who had made his home in the caves of the Tyrols Mountains.

In England and Wales in 1948 there were 128 cases of murder of 138 persons aged one year or over.

was 246.5 (242.5);
Alberta 270.2 (242.2);
British Columbia 245.1 (244.2).

Blue Cross Plan Has Become Institution of the Public

Some people argue that Blue Cross Plans are merely agencies of hospitals.

While it is true that in the beginning many plans were started by hospital administrators and trustees, they have, in fact, become community enterprises.

Plans must be fair both to hospitals which make them possible and to the public which financially supports them.

Since both the public and hospitals are interested primarily in health, any dispute over ownership should be academic.

Blue Cross Plan is a public institution and is operated on a democratic basis.

No practical method for electing the board of directors by a popular vote has yet been devised. Consequently, as in the case of life insurance companies, board of directors must be trustee for policyholders and shareholders.

"If board members are trustees,

Mother of Two Jailed, Charged In Spy Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The seventh American—and second woman—arrested by the government in the Klaus Fuchs atom spy ring was charged yesterday with conspiracy to commit espionage.

She is Mrs. Ethel Greenglass Rosenberg, wife and sister of two men already accused of the same crime. A small, slight woman of 35, she is mother of two children. The government accused her of helping her husband and others persuade her brother, to turn over atomic bomb secrets to the Soviet spy ring.

It was the crime with which she is charged but not occurred, perhaps she would not have had the present situation in Korea, the chief assistant U.S. attorney, Miles J. Lane, told U.S. commissioners today. W. McDonald is asking for $10,000 bail.

REMARK UNEXPLAINED
It did not explain why she should be charged with espionage, but the government of Atomic Energy said she was a "valuable" person. Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, a 34-year-old Brooklyn resident, was sentenced to life in Alcatraz atom bomb center in 1953 as an army specialist.

Harvesters Coming West

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Harvesters will begin moving from eastern Canada to the prairie provinces for the grain crop this week, labor department announced yesterday.

At least 2,000 farmhands are expected to make the annual trip, the department said, with the bulk of the movement coming in late August.

Harvest crop is expected in Saskatchewan, and about 1,000 eastern workers will be moved there. Manitoba and Alberta will require at least 500 each.

This year, the crop is expected to be considerably heavier than last year though somewhat later. The demand for help may be considerably increased by the fact that the crop in all three provinces is expected to be ready for harvesting at about the same time. Normally, Manitoba's crop ripens first, and the harvesters then go on to the other two provinces.

All workers recruited from points in Quebec and Ontario will be distributed to prairie points will be made. Transportation is being provided for the workers at $15 going and $150 for the return journey.

Playful Prank Produces Powerless Pandemonium

By Barney McKinley
Wednesday at 10:07 a.m. a playful 10-year-old farm boy threw a small piece of wire on the top of the transformer at the Calgary Power Limited's Coldwater substation on the St. Albert Trail.

It proved almost as dangerous as tossing a bomb. For as a result he interfered with military communications lines to the northlands. Knapstad on the company's main power line, causing all its services north of the North Saskatchewan River.

WITHOUT POWER
Left two citizens, a radio broadcasting station, a court community and an estimated 700 rural subscribers without power for one hour to one and a half hours.

Set the $20,000 suspended substation itself on fire. And it could have been worse: Company officials, still shaking, said yesterday the fire came close to wrecking the 500,000-watt station completely. It would have left the area without power for at least 24 hours completely.

Only prompt action on the part of neighboring farm volunteer fire fighters and arrival of a crash truck and pump from Edmonton's No. 5 fire station prevented it from happening, they stated.

DAMAGED TIMBERS
As it was, damage was mainly confined to foundation timbers, but the substation is only half ready to go back into service.

Repair crews have been working on the transformer since the 10:07 a.m. fire, while other stations carried the load normally handled by the damaged Coldwater installation.

The sequence of events was reconstructed by a company spokesman today after RCMP investigators had learned that the farmer's boy had thrown the wire while he was taking the family cows across the nearby field.

They said the wire landed on the main line as soon as it landed. That, they said, fixed the line at 10:07 a.m.

If You Know Susie

Has anybody seen Susie?
If you do, give her the old wolf whistle. She should come right along with you, that is providing coyotes go for wolf whistles.

Because Susie is a baby coyote of the feminine gender.

She belongs to Dr. William Rowan, the boss zoology man over at University of Alberta. Dr. Rowan is worried sick about Susie.

She left her Garneau dretir home about three days ago and is still on the missing list.

Here's a description of Susie: Age, three and one half months. Looks like small edition of a police dog. When last seen was wearing a pink bow in coat and a dog collar. May or may not answer to the name of Susie. Is very fond of Dr. Rowan and licks his face whenever he gives her the chance.

Susie has had an exciting life so far.
Just about a month ago, she was saved from death in the electric chair by a scant 10 minutes.

And it was the New Bulletin that literally snatched Susie from the hot seat.

They All Cried Wolf

Some people up in the west named LeClerc found out that in their front yard, they thought was a stray dog until Clarence Mohr said he was a coyote. (Clarence would have become a great zoologist if he had been able to spend more time at the zoo).

As soon as Clarence pronounced Susie to be a coyote everybody was frightened nearly to death.

So they loaded Susie into a cage and carted her up the Bulletin.

The Bulletin night editor who has been having trouble keeping wolves from his door for years, called the police and Susie spent the night in the clink.

I'm sorry to report that Susie got kangaroo justice from there on. She was sentenced to die in the city pound electric chair at 4:30 the next afternoon.

Then Dr. Rowan read the story about Susie and was hushed to the execution chamber just in time to have Susie from the searing thunderbolt.

Now Susie's lost again. If you know Susie like Dr. Rowan knows Susie, you'll give him a jingle on the phone the instant you spot her.

Scoop by Green Sheet

My old friend Elodie DeRane is in town for the current turf meeting with a good supply of green sheets for green horseplayers looking for greenbacks.

He came up with this red hot stable scoop concerning that colorful turfman known as Chatahoochee Smith.

Besides operating a racing stable, Chatahoochee Smith is an expert barber with a shop in Calgary.

One day last summer, groom Alex Moore was leading a horse around the paddock when he observed he needed a hair trim.

Chatahoochee believes in getting things done in a hurry with people as well as race horses.

So he walked behind Moore and clipped his hair without the usual Smith or Chatahoochee ever coming to a halt.

Now Chatahoochee Smith thinks this is a record. I don't think it's the plenty of guys who have been clipped at the race track.

A gentle goodnight to all and especially to people who can tell little coyotes from little dogs.

Really Nothing to It After First Solo Flip

(This is the third of a series of articles on learning to fly, written by a Bulletin staff man who took a course with the Edmonton Flying Club.)

By Stanley Burke

It was the big day—I soloed!

Yep—It's a fact. All by myself. Once around the field—up in the air, too.

They told me this flying business was a lead pipe snuff, but I didn't realize how right they were. I started my flying lessons two days ago and had the total of three-and-a-half hours flying time when I ventured solo alone today.

Hadn't expected to be soloing today or even, say, by the end of a week, when the skipper climbed out at the head of the controls, remarked, casually, "Okay, take her around yourself."

It's a good way to solo because there's no time to worry. You just do what you've been told and there is no room to go.

INTO WIND

I just adjusted the trim, turned her into the wind, got my green light from the tower, opened the throttle wide and 30 seconds later was climbing into the sunset.

There's just time to enjoy a very satisfying experience of being alone in the sky in a very comfy-looking airplane. Then you start thinking how you are going to get down again.

As I came round to start my approach, I felt as though I had climbed to the top of a good big hill and was just about to take the big deep breath and say, "Well, here goes."

But there wasn't time to worry. I just cut the throttle over to idle.

Consumers May Press For Ceiling

Alberta branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers may seek a return to price ceilings.

Provincial president Mrs. Frank Conroy said a meeting would be held next week in Edmonton to discuss the rise in prices of food and to seek a return to price ceilings.

Mrs. Conroy joined officials of the national organization in appealing to housewives to refrain from panic buying.

NO SHORTAGE

At Ottawa, Mrs. P. E. Wright, national president said, "there are no real shortages of food supplies, nor are there likely to be shortages unless thoughtless, ignorant and selfish people begin hoarding and create artificial shortages."

Mrs. Conroy emphasized that a very serious situation could be created by panic buying of food supplies.

Free cases of this type of buying have been reported here, she said, but some housewives are buying supplies in quantity in order to best rapidly rising prices.

When it is quite obvious that prices on several items increase each time the housewife goes shopping, more than she needs immediately in order to avoid paying more later on," Mrs. Conroy said.

Coffee is one such item which has steadily increased in price without a "reasonable" explanation and is now on the last lap of the price jump, she said.

CHARGED LIMIT

"The buying public is being charged the very limit that the traffic can bear on many food products at the present time," Mrs. Conroy said.

The local association received a report that one retailer was selling coffee at 10 cents a pound for seven cents, although this price increase has not been authorized by the manufacturer.

Forty-Cadet Team Drills For Contest

A crack drill team of Royal Canadian Air Cadets from the three Alberta provinces and British Columbia will take part in Canada's Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver, B.C. August 23 to 26.

Feature of the drill will be debut of 40 western air cadets who are scheduled to compete against a United States Air Cadet team Aug. 30 at the Molokai, Hawaii, for the Beau International challenge trophy.

Canada has won the award the past two years and hope to make it three straight.

The team's training comes up for annual competition held alternately in the States and Canada.

Judges for the event, high ranking Canadian and American air officers, have yet to be selected.

PRECISION DRILL

On a specially erected platform, competing teams will perform seven minutes of fixed drill under command and five minutes of precision drill without word of command. They will be judged on precision and accuracy of their precision drill.

Forty Cadets from the western provinces, ranging in age from 14 to 18, will be competing in the competition for a place on the 40-man team that eventually travels to the Molokai.

Training at RCAF station is supervised by Flight Lieutenant J. P. Radcliffe and Sergeant F. M. Bailey.

Alberta cadets on the drill team are: J. Liddell, Ponoka; C. Hovell, Lethbridge; W. Wilson, Calgary; K. Maxwell, Vermilion; E. Rende, Jasper; D. Haggins, Olds; J. Palmer, Taber; G. Tucker, Edmonton; W. Williams, Ardrossan; A. Roush, Leduc; T. Macdonald, Fairview; R. Crooks, High River.

NEW HOPES SEEN IN CANADA

THOUSANDS OF DANISH people want to settle in Alberta, says Helge Peterson, centre, representative of Swedish-American Steamship Company who is yielding Edmonton. Photographed with him are Eric Peterson, Calgary, Danish vice-consul for southern Alberta, left, and C. E. Gunderson, vice-consul in Edmonton.

Thousands of Danish People Seeking Entry to Alberta

The Alberta is the mecca of Danish immigrants seeking to start a new life in the new world.

More Danish immigrants can be found in Alberta than in any other province of Canada, said Helge Peterson, representative of the Swedish-American Steamship Company on his arrival in Edmonton, Friday.

The "father" of more than 40,000 Danish immigrants since 1903, Mr. Peterson is on his first visit to Edmonton in 25 years.

Since leaving Denmark, he has visited Danish settlements in all of the northern United States and is now on the last lap of the trip back to the east coast.

THOUSAND HERE

The majority of Danish immigrants want to come to Alberta in preference to any other province in Canada, he said. During the last year 1,014 were admitted, but thousands more want to come.

Purpose of Mr. Peterson's visit is to seek out the new settlers and to find out their reaction to life in Canada.

"In every case I have found the Danish people are more than satisfied with their new life," he said. Only thing holding back more immigrants from the Scandinavian countries is the fact that they are not able to take the necessary funds to establish themselves in Canada, he added.

Denmark has more or less dropped out of the passenger service from Europe, but is building up her merchant marine until it is now taking its place as one of the great maritime nations of the world, he said.

The passenger service formerly controlled by Denmark is now handled by the Swedish-American Steamship Lines, until such time as Denmark is able to re-establish the passenger line.

At a banquet in the Macdonald hotel Friday night, officials of steamship, rail and allied lines paid tribute to Danish citizens who settled in Alberta and did so much to build up agricultural production within the province.

Farmer Picks Jury Hearing In Bride Case

Youthful Bartered Bride Will Be Returned to Home

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12 "Testimony of a retired minister that he mistakenly married a bride and groom, yesterday afternoon the preliminary hearing of the case of the bartered bride in police court here.

The hearing was adjourned until Monday.

Charged with complicity in a fraudulent marriage are Alex Gokley, 17-year-old Edmonton job fitter, and his sister, Mrs. Gokley, 18 years old, who is now in the custody of her father, Mr. Gokley, 31, Havelock, B.C.

Mr. James Macdonald testified that four persons appeared at his home early July 28 with documents for a marriage.

He and Alex, whose age appeared on the documents as 25, posed as the bridegroom, using Gokley's name, and that Gokley represented himself as the father of the 15-year-old bride-central figure in the case. The documents gave the girl's age as 18. Mrs. Alex witnessed the ceremony.

The bartered bride-pollster Gokley had agreed to pay her $300 and her brother $500 if she would marry him—she charged separately with improper conduct.

Crown prosecutor Gordon Scott said Gokley has not paid his $300. He said he is now in Vancouver, and promised me $500 more.

The retired minister said he was not paid by Gokley for performing the marriage ceremony.

The young girl told the court, "I got $500. He gave me $100 in cash in Vancouver, and promised me $500 more."

Warm Air Heating Uses Are Outlined

Better Homes Said to Rely On Warm Air for Comfort

To provide the most comfort and convenience possible within the limits of the construction budget is the criterion followed by most of today's home builders.

That's why the majority of Canada's better homes continue to rely on warm air winter air conditioning systems for their year-round indoor comfort says the Canadian Chapter of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association.

By providing air at a satisfactory temperature, properly humidified, filtered and circulated, the modern warm air winter air conditioning system maintains a safe, healthful and comfortable climate indoors.

Heating engineers agree that it is surprisingly difficult to equal the economic and efficient results of warm air winter air conditioning with any other type of system. In addition to these comfort benefits, owners of warm air winter air conditioning systems find that the extreme flexibility of system design permits use of the system for many other conveniences in addition to heating.

During the hot summer months the blower mechanism can be used to circulate cool air throughout the house. By adding a refrigerating unit the system can actually be used for summer air conditioning of the house.

By installing an extra large register or a stub duct in the side of the warm air trunk running through the laundry room, the system can be used for drying the wash.

AIR REGISTER

Another help for the housewife is to have a warm air register located in the space used for hanging wet linens under the kitchen sink. This arrangement makes a wonderful towel dryer and in addition keeps this area well-ventilated.

Your warm air system can also be used to overcome the inconvenience of a cold bathtub. The tub is placed on a platform which has been built up from the floor and warm air is circulated under the tub and out through a grille opening in the base of the platform.

The tub is kept warm at all times, the colder the weather the warmer the tub.

Correct Store Colors, Too

Just as there is a right and wrong way of using color in the home, there is a right and wrong way to use color in the store.

The colors chosen should not be too pastel. Colors are used to complement each type of merchandise. For instance, appliance warranties such as electric stoves, refrigerators and washing machines can be shown off to best advantage against a background of blue, or, as a second center, green; aluminum the paps. Ware against red or yellow. Glassware shows off best against green and certain types of crockery against coral.

HIDE THE GAPS
The use of definite color gives the impression that the store is always properly stocked, even though gaps are made in the actual shelving through merchandise having been sold and not replaced. The fact that color shows through these gaps, leaves the impression of orderliness and cleanliness. Also, it sets off the stock on either side of

STILL ULTRA-MODERN is this housing area built in 1920 in Radburn, N. J. It is one of few existing examples of "super-block" idea which Paul Wendels, president Regional Plan Association of New York thinks would solve the urban expansion problem.

21-Year-Old Development Still Is Said Ultra Modern

By Richard Kleiner

RADBURN, N.J.—(NEA)—Radburn, America's first "super-block" community, is 21 years old this year. And Radburnites still think it is a pretty nice place to live.

Radburn is one of the few existing examples of the "super-block" idea which Paul Wendels, president of the Regional Plan Association of New York, thinks is the solution of the city expansion problem. Built in 1920, it embodies ideas that are today looked on as utopian.

There are some flaws in Radburn's course. Some people don't like the attached houses, a few of which are scattered through the development. And some wish the architects had planned for wider roads.

But, for all its 21 years, Radburn is still more modern than many of the new developments springing up around it. Children of the community walk to school without crossing any streets.

They—and their preschool brothers and sisters—have great areas of play space. Through traffic is kept out. Shops are neat, yet not too near.

The "Radburn Plan" built for the community was widely ballyhooed in the late 1920's. It was called "The Town for the Motor Age." The architects worked on what they called a "neighborhood unit" plan. Briefly, they wanted to create a community meeting four basic standards:

1. A town in which even the most distant home was within walking distance of the elementary school.

2. A town that had 10 per cent of its total area given over to parks and playgrounds.

3. Shops, to meet daily needs, grouped together at an easily-reached point.

4. A town with "residential environment," meaning that it should have such things as harmonious architecture, careful planning, community buildings, and an internal street system keeping out through traffic.

The builders picked out a big tract of farm land for the experiment in town planning. They raised the money, dug some foundations, built some homes, advertised them—but they made one mistake. They timed the project wrong.

Before it could be finished, the depression started in, stopping everything. Of the 10 superblocks planned, only two were finished. Of the 500 acres that were to be converted into a model community, only about 35 were utilized.

Cement Work at Home Can be Done Easily

By Bob Scharf

Cement work does not need to be a messy undertaking. It is easy for the man of the house to lay his own concrete terrace or walks, or repair the damage caused by winter.

Before starting, decide the height of the new work and the slope or direction in which water should drain from it. If repeating between two concrete areas, the adjoining surfaces will govern the height.

After determining the height, remove ground from the area to be cemented to a depth of four inches below proposed grade.

If the soil is not well drained, it is good practice to increase this depth to eight inches and to lay a four-inch cushion of cinders or gravel in the bottom of the excavation.

SHEDDING BOARDS

Next, the side-board forms go into place. These can be ordinary sheathing boards, 1 inch by 4 inches, nailed to stakes driven into the ground at regular intervals. Before being fastened, the stakes must be adjusted to grade and slope by a hand level.

To provide for expansion and contraction of a wall, small, parting strips at right angles to the side forms at 4 to 6 foot intervals. The grooves in the side forms in which the stakes are driven, the stakes must be adjusted to grade and slope by a hand level.

For terraces, end boards must be placed at the outer edge of the side boards with their upper edges meeting the top edge of the side boards exactly.

PREPARE DRY MIX

Now prepare the dry mix for the concrete by dumping together one part cement, two parts sand and three parts medium gravel. Turn this material over and mix it very thoroughly.

This may be done in a mortar box or on a four by four sheet of exterior plywood. When sure it is well stirred, take it into a post pile with a crate-like depression in its peak to receive the water for mixing.
